PALMER WILL RUN; ANNOUNCES FACT

Considers Head of Republican Ticket an Honor

J. P. Smith's Friends Are Working Hard in His Interest Before Convention.

ATTENDANCE WILL BE LARGE.

It is now definitely settled that there will be two candidates for the Republican nomination for mayor at the mass convention, which will be held at the city hall tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Alderman Earl Palmer, following the example of J. P. Smith, yesterday, announced that he will accept the nomination, if accorded him.

An unusually large attendance is expected and the city hall is likely to be full to overflowing before Chairman Dr. Frank Boyd calls the convention to order.

City Treasurer John J. Dorian will be a candidate for re-election. Attorney A. Y. Martin probably will be nominated for city attorney, and J. Harlan Griffith is mentioned for city assessor. A lively but friendly race is on between George Andrecht and John Dunaway for city jailer.

Alderman Palmer accepts in his letter of announcement.

Alderman Palmer says: "In response to the request from Fifty Republicans, published in yesterday's issue of this paper, that I permit my name to come before the Republican city convention as a candidate for mayor.

"I recognize that there are calls to duty in times of peace which are quite as imperative in their nature as the calls which come in times of war. The battles which we must wage for our liberties, our hearthstones and our loved ones, are not all of the sword.

"These calls to duty may be in tones so weak as to leave us in doubt whence comes the voice, or they may be pitched in the tones of Stentor. The call to public service, which has been extended to me, coming as it does from fifty stalwart Republicans, is of the latter class and may not, therefore, be denied.

"It is a distinguished honor to receive the personal endorsement of so many influential gentlemen, over the signature of each; and especially so, when the fact is considered, that many of them have been co-workers of mine in the public service for the past eighteen months and to whom all public acts of mine, as well as the motives inspiring them, have been known.

"Therefore, while disclaiming any title to the encomiums contained in the call, I cheerfully accede to the expressed wishes of those making the same and hereby authorize them to place my name before the convention as a candidate for mayor.

"EARL PALMER."

Mr. Dorian Will Run.

City Treasurer J. J. Dorian said today: "I am touched by the interest my friends have shown in my candidacy. I have tried to do my duty in office. I will stand by my record, and if nominated tomorrow I shall make as hard a race as I did before, and work for the whole ticket."

Struck Match to See a Leak and Young Woman Nearly Burned Auto

A sudden blaze, clearly outlining a large automobile with two young men and two thoroughly frightened young women standing nearby, caused residents of the Hinkleville road last night about 9 o'clock to telephone a local garage that an auto was burning up. On the arrival of assistance it was discovered that no harm had been done the machine. A well known young professional man and a friend took two young women out riding in an automobile engaged at a local garage. When on several miles the automobile balked, and finally refused to go at all. Gasoline was leaking from the carburetor, and the driver did not know how to stop it. One young woman struck a match to examine the leak. There was a flash of fire and a brilliant flame spread under the big machine, as the gasoline ignited, and but for the timely action of the young men in pushing the automobile away from the pool of burning gasoline, the machine might have been burned up. Mud was used to stop the flow from the defective carburetor, and the machine was later towed to the garage for repairs.

POLICE BELIEVE THEY HAVE CLEAR CASE AGAINST THEM

Two Men Arrested Charged With Shooting Patrolman Howell as He Was Sitting on Porch of Dance Hall Last Saturday Night

HIS VICTIM IS BETTER TODAY.

That Ed Wade, colored, 30 years old, a steamboat deck hand, shot patrolman Sam Howell, and that he did it through pure meanness, is what the commonwealth is preparing to prove. "Peck" Ratcliffe, colored, first arrested for the shooting, will be released on the examining trial, but held as a witness against Wade. Facts in the case were brought out through the excellent work of Patrolman James Clark and Detective J. J. Moore. Clark is the patrolman who worked up the case against James Graham for the murder of Claude Bass, to which he confessed to Clark after several "phony" confessions to other officers. Clark was taken from his "low end of town" beat yesterday and with Detective Moore put on the Howell shooting case. Last night Clark was seen coming to the city hall on a street car with a shotgun. This morning a warrant was issued against Ed Wade and Peck Ratcliffe, the latter to be held until after the examining trial, on authority of Moore and Clark.

"I desire to say that Detective Moore and Patrolman Clark did excellent work, and I complimented them for their success," stated Chief of Police James Collins. "We have the gun with which the shooting was done, and enough evidence against Wade to prove that he did the shooting."

It is intimated that Peck Ratcliffe, after being put out by Patrolman Howell for disorder at the Simms dance hall, went to Wade's house on Seventh ridge, a small row of houses near the city limits, and told Wade.

Authorities secured the wadding of the shell used on Patrolman Howell, and it compares with wadding in shells secured with the gun. The gun belonged to it is estimated to the step-son of Bob Waterfield who lives several doors from the dance hall. It was found there. Waterfield is already under arrest and will be held.

Incessant work on the part of Moore and Clark secured the following witnesses with whom the commonwealth will show Wade's actions from the time Ratcliffe told his story until Wade's return to the house after the shooting:

Charles McAtee, Houston Owen, Ed Houston Monroe Baron, Matthew Patterson, Sallie Houston and, Bob Waterfield.

Authorities here hold a warrant for Wade who is wanted in Benton for malicious assault. He had been dodging about Paducah eight months eluding the police.

Patrolman Sam Howell is reported slightly better today. His condition is still very serious, and his lungs are troubling him greatly.

OLD OFFICIALS ARE APPOINTED

Metropolis, Ill., June 26.—(Special)—The city council reappointed Tom Hunt street commissioner, and William Wiant, night policeman.

YOUNG WOMAN RESCUED IN WALLACE PARK LAKE.

Miss Sarah Wilson, daughter of Mrs. E. Wilson, 727 Jefferson street, had a narrow escape from drowning in Wallace park lake last evening. She was fished out of the water by Clarence Krug just as she was losing her hold on the side of the boat, to which she had desperately clung. Miss Wilson was riding in a metal boat with Miss Irene Curd and Mr. Krug. The young man was rowing the boat and Miss Wilson sat in one end. The boat careened and shipped water and the young woman in their excitement dipped the boat and Miss Wilson fell out.

CLERK HAS CHASE FOR SHOPLIFTER

Recovers Silk Skirt After Running a Mile and Encountering Two Dangerous Looking Men on the Way

ONE WARRANT IS SWORN OUT.

After a chase of more than a mile during which he was threatened by two male friends of the shoplifter, Mr. Muir Givens, a clerk in the El Guthrie dry goods store, recovered a $7.50 silk skirt, which two colored women "lifted" in the store at 7:15 o'clock this morning. Hattie Owen was identified as one of the women, and a warrant for petit larceny has been sworn out against her.

Mr. Givens waited on the two women. One wanted a corset cover, and while he displayed the stock, her companion lingered skirts nearby. They bought nothing and as they left, promising to return, the wind blew aside the loose jacket one wore, disclosing a line checked silk skirt which Mr. Givens recognized. He seized his hat and followed.

Down Broadway to Third street then north to Monroe street, they went, and at the corner of Third and Monroe streets the women recognized Givens and started running. From Monroe street they turned into Seventh street and thence to Harrison street. Turning into an alley between Harrison, Clay, Seventh and Eighth streets, they stopped and two colored men who were conversing with them picked up bricks as Givens started to enter the alley. Not to be bluff, the young clerk made a detour and saw the women emerge into Harrison street and proceed in a run towards Ninth street.

Jumping into Torrence's grocery wagon at Eighth and Harrison streets, Givens followed. Down the railroad at Ninth street the fugitives turned, with Givens a short distance behind. They went behind a lumber pile and emerged again. Givens suspected they had hidden the skirt and was right. With it he found one woman's jacket.

Patrolman Dick Wood and Givens later pursued the Owen woman through several vacant houses on West Monroe street, but she finally escaped.

A City for the Blind.
A new and beneficial scheme on behalf of those bereft of sight has been initiated by the queen of Romania, who has conceived the idea of founding a city especially for the blind. All the blinds are to be removed from the precarious and often miserable existence which has been theirs, and grouped together in a colony where their hardships will no longer weigh upon them and where they will find interesting occupation befitting their condition. One of the remarkable features of the colony is a new method of printing, which can be performed by the blind. It was invented by the queen's blind secretary, whom she especially engaged to help her in her work.

LEAGUE BASEBALL FOR TWO CITIES

M. J. Farnbaker Thinks Paducah and Cairo Will Have It

Too Big Salaries, Long Jumps and Excessive Railroad Fare Caused Teams To Lose.

HAS CIRCUIT IN HIS MIND

M. J. Farnbaker, who is here to open up a moving picture show at the Kentucky theater, says that Cairo and Paducah will be in a baseball league next season; and already he is busy mapping out a circuit. He is a baseball fan first, last and always, and disclosed his plans for next season, and his reasons for believing that fans here and in the Egyptian city will demand professional league ball next season.

"Paducah can not be a success in a league without Cairo, and Cairo can not do without Paducah, and that point is understood," he began. "We had four years of league baseball, and with every succeeding year the company grew faster. This carried with it an increase in salaries, and pretty soon we saw that the towns were too small to support the teams which fans demanded. It was a cry of 'faster ball' all the time, and the expansion of league baseball soon caused the demand to exceed the supply. When the Kilty league started in 1903 there were 26 leagues affiliated in the national agreement. Now there are 49, so you can easily see how professional baseball has grown, and what an enormous demand there is for fast ball players. With larger league taking all the fast players, the smaller league could not pay large enough salaries to tempt company fast enough to suit fans, and we had to quit."

"Give 'em a rest," we said, and this year they are getting it. Mark my words, fans in Paducah and Cairo and other cities where they have had league ball, will demand it again, but they will have forgotten the comparison. We can start with slower ball players and give them good sport. There may be comparisons between this player who started a year or two ago, and members of the new team, but they will not be able to really see the difference."

"Another reason why we will be able to have league ball next season is in the reduction of railroad fares. Formerly, before the interstate commerce act against discrimination, ball teams got a two-cent per mile rate, with one gratis ticket for every ten players. The act cut this out, because it was really discriminating. The recent two-cent fare acts in Illinois and other states, which will become general by agreement of combined roads, will put us back again where we can travel teams with the former reduced expense."

The Circuit.
"About my plans for a league: I have mapped out several circuits, but one which I think will pay better and be more likely to live is Paducah, Ky., Cairo, Marion, Centralia, Vincennes and East St. Louis Ill. We may not take in East St. Louis, but Memphis, Mo., instead. This means a circuit not extending more than 175 miles."

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of it in Paducah But Daily Growing Less.
The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed. Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble. It is the kidney's cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what are wanted. Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Paducah citizen.

Mrs. C. A. HUBB, 1612 Bradford avenue, Paducah, Ky., says: "I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills a few weeks ago which I procured at Du-Bols Son & Co.'s drug store. I took them for general back and kidney trouble and received quick relief with no unpleasant results. I consider them a very valuable remedy so do not hesitate to give this public endorsement."

Turner back to port before it had got a few miles up the Tennessee river, they will be repaired by Friday.

As much freight as the stage of the river would allow, was loaded on the Chattanooga for the trip today at noon for Chattanooga and Tennessee river points.

Fifteen gusts of rain like the weather man has given lately are having little effect on the river, as it continues to fall at a good rate. The fall since yesterday was 1.9, leaving 22.5 feet of the wharf under water. On June 26 last year the stage for 10.4. Rainfall yesterday, 1.0.

Captain Billy Hunter, head mate on the Clyde, has returned from a trip to Nashville and will leave this evening at 6 o'clock on that steamer for the Tennessee river.

On the return trip tonight from Cairo, the Dick Fowler will stop at Brookport to take out an excursion from that town to Oxford's landing. It will put the Dick Fowler back into Paducah at midnight or before daylight. Thursday night a church society has chartered the Dick Fowler for an excursion out of this city.

The Dunbar will arrive Thursday from Nashville and leave at 6 o'clock for that city.

Ellis Ford, head engineer on the Dick Fowler, left the boat at Brookport this morning for a day off, and his brother Charley, took his place.

The Joe Fowler arrived and departed on time in the Evansville trade today.

The new office at the ways is about finished and with its veranda makes a fine appearance. The U. S. S. Cumberland will be lowered into the river tomorrow. When the Cumberland gets off, the start to work will ring at 7 o'clock again.

Four inch timbers don't wear out in a few weeks' time from people walking over them. The timbers in the gangways at the wharves are being replaced under Captain Brown's supervision, as the heavy wagon traffic over them has worn them down. The frequency with which they have to be replaced indicates the volume of business done at the river.

Official Forecasts.
The Ohio from Evansville to Cairo will continue falling during the next 3 days. The fall at Cairo during the next 12 hours will probably be between 1 foot and 1.5 feet.

The Tennessee at Florence and Riverorton will probably rise during the next 24 hours. At Johnsonville not much change during the 24 hours.

The Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo will rise during the next 24 to 36 hours.

The Wabash at Mt. Carmel will continue rising during the next 2 days.

"Black Kid" Performs Double Hold-up and Permits Photograph of Himself

Wawona, Cal., June 26.—On the identical spot where he had already committed three robberies, "Black Kid," the famous bandit of Madera and Mariposa counties, perpetrated a double stage hold-up which in point of daring and coolness eclipsed even the robbery when this same Dick Turpin calmly permitted one of his victims to photograph him after he had nonchalantly collected the loot gathered from a score or more passengers.

The latest exploit of this remarkable highwayman was to hold up two stages of the Yosemite Stage and Turndike company at a point in the road in Madera county known as the Zigzags, where he compelled sixteen terrified tourists, some of them women, to stand in the broiling sun for an hour, with their hands held over their heads, while he forced one of his victims to relieve his fellow passengers of such jewelry and money as they happened to possess. He kept them there until the second stage arrived, when he robbed it in a similar manner.

In the meantime the bandit kept the stage coach passengers "covered" with a Winchester rifle and held cool conversation with the unfortunate travelers, concluding the performance by laying in a stock of provisions from one of the coaches.

"Black Kid" held up three coaches at the Zigzags in July and September, 1905 and 1906, upon each of which occasions he possessed himself of the country over, but the outlaw had vanished.

The first stage was driven by Arthur Turner one of the oldest reins-men in the employ of the Yosemite Stage company. The "Black Kid," at the point of his rifle, compelled Turner to halt in the road pending the arrival of the second stage, driven by Jim Gordon, another old timer.

The highwayman singled out Francis S. Eaton, of Fifty-fifth street, Boston, to make the collection from the other passengers, warning his victims in the meanwhile that an attempt on the part of anyone to resist would mean instant death. After the collection he ordered Eaton to place the accumulated trinkets and contents of the purses into a handkerchief and tie them up. He took a watch from his unwilling assistant, and when Eaton begged him to save the timepiece, it being a keepsake, saying that when he (Eaton) returned home he would send him $200 for it, the highwayman said:

"Maybe you can borrow $25 from the driver," meaning Turner. The latter only had $20, and he gave this to Eaton, who in turn gave it to the robber, receiving his watch back.

"Be sure and pay that driver back the money you borrowed of him," warned "Black Kid," as the stages finally drove off.

Railroad Presidents Agree Not To Take Case To Court Until After Awhile.

Chicago, June 26.—Presidents of Illinois railroads have agreed that there shall be no immediate contest of the two-cent rate law which will become effective on July 1. The present plan of railroad officials, as announced today is to put the rate into effect, and later should the passenger earnings show a deficit to go into court and declare the rate law confiscatory.

President Harahan, of the Illinois Central, said:

"After a reasonable period of operation under the new law, if there is a decrease in the net passenger earnings, as I believe there will be as a result of the law, we shall present such an exhibit and ask the courts for a decision on the grounds of loss of revenue which in its effect we believe to be confiscatory. I do not believe the population of Illinois as it is distributed outside of Cook county, will warrant a two-cent rate."

Every 7,000 tons of the 7,000,000 tons annual production of iron and steel have been put out at the cost of the life of one of the manipulators somewhere in its manufacture, and of the $800,000 tons annual output of steel rails every $7,000 tons have been put upon the market only after some one of its producers has laid down his life.

"That is so," said the professor.

PITTSBURG HAS BIG DEATH RATE

Lives Sacrificed to Industrial Development

No Other City Approaches Record of Great Manufacturing Center in Mortality.

THE STATISTICS ARE DREADFUL.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 26.—The grim and tragic side of Pittsburgh's industrial supremacy, as reflected in the county coroner's log book of violent deaths, is beginning to arouse a feeling of horror at the frightful cost of the wealth which its millionaires are piling up.

When the coroner closed his log for 1906 he found that in the year he had been called on to record a total of 2,000 deaths. Of these 219 were the result directly of accident in mill, mine, or on railroad, the industries most essential to the city's progress. Sufficient more of the total number of deaths in the city were indirectly attributed to the same causes to make more than 50 per cent of all the deaths the cost in human life of the steel and money made in Pittsburgh for 1906.

Appalling as these figures are, the chances are that a new record will be established this year. Already in the five months that have elapsed, 1,095 deaths have been recorded in the coroner's log, and of these 344 came suddenly and violently in the mills and mines and on the railroads that gridiron the city. In the same period last year, the total number of deaths recorded was 1,015, and those laid at the door of the city's industries numbered 340.

250 Deaths Every Month.

While in the aggregate these figures may seem abnormal they are recorded so regularly that their magnitude is scarcely realized. The average number of deaths reported to the coroner is about 250 a month, and there is little variation from this from year to year.

Comparing the loss of life by accidents with the tonnage and production of the Pittsburgh district, one life has been snuffed out for every 50,000 tons of coal that is shipped, and the annual shipment is about 50,000,000 tons. For every 3,800 cars that carry freight out of or into Pittsburgh some soul has given up the ghost. This is exclusive of cars that are carrying freight through to other points.

Every 7,000 tons of the 7,000,000 tons annual production of iron and steel have been put out at the cost of the life of one of the manipulators somewhere in its manufacture, and of the $800,000 tons annual output of steel rails every $7,000 tons have been put upon the market only after some one of its producers has laid down his life.

ABOUT CUBA

PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY
TAFT HAD A TALK.

Magoon's Administration Will Continue For Eighteen Months Longer.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 26.—Secretary Taft spent four hours with President Roosevelt today and said as he left Oyster Bay to return to the Yale commencement that a number of important matters relative to Cuba, Panama and the Philippines had been concluded. Public announcement relative to these transactions he said would come when appropriate orders were issued on his return to Washington. Relative to Cuba the secretary said Governor Magoon's administration there would continue for about 18 months longer; that the taking of the census which is now progressing and preparation of the election to select a native president would require about that time. That Governor Magoon is encountering many difficult problems and solving them in a thoroughly satisfactory manner was Taft's comment.

RAILROAD NOTES

Mr. John Lane, formerly of the Illinois Central, but now of the Big Four with headquarters at Danville, Ind., left this morning for Dawson Springs for a few days' rest. He is employed as a supervisor of construction by the Big Four, and has been with the road over a year. Mr. Lane supervised the construction of the greater part of the Cairo extension of the I. C. He is a Paducah man.

Because of a sudden spurt in business from the south on the Nashville division, the Illinois Central has been compelled to run special freight trains between Paducah and Cairo to keep the live freight moving. Today a special was run to Cairo, leaving at noon, and will continue to run until the freight ceases to move north in such abundance.

Today the quarterly inspection of the Paducah district of the Illinois Central road is being made by officials to become more thoroughly acquainted with the road in detail. The inspection is being made on train No. 122, the Fulton-Louisville accommodation train, which makes all stops, and the party is traveling in Superintendent A. H. Egan's private car, No. 1528. In the party are Roadmaster L. E. McCabe and Dispatchers C. O. Griffin and J. H. Thomas and Chief Dispatcher L. E. Page. They will return tonight or late this afternoon.

Mr. W. C. Waggoner, supervisor of bridges and buildings of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, returned to Princeton this morning after an inspection of improvements in the I. C. yards and terminals.

Roadmaster A. E. Hlaos and Superintendent A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central are in the city today.

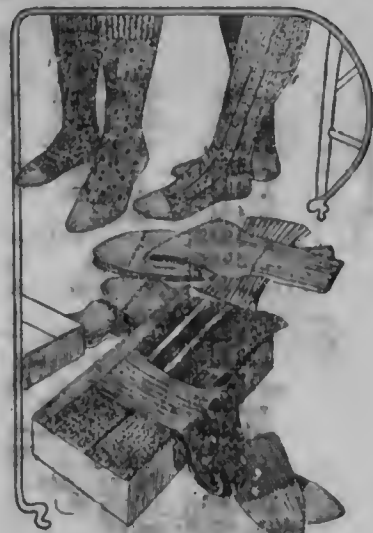

Mr. J. G. Neuffer, assistant superintendent of machinery of the Illinois Central, arrived in Paducah this morning from Memphis in private car, No. 4, and spent all the morning inspecting carefully the Illinois Central shops. He was due here last week, but was delayed in the south. He was met here by Superintendent A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division, who accompanied him through the shops. Officials had prepared for his visit, and everything in the shops was neat and clean, and the work was being pushed rapidly. At noon today Mr. Neuffer left on train No. 102, for Princeton, and after a short stop there will proceed to Evansville and then home to Chicago.

More patents were issued during 1906 and more money collected by the United States patent office than in any single year previous with the exception of 1905, since the establishment of the patent office in 1836. It is shown that the receipts reached a total of $1,790,921.58 for the twelve months, while the expenditures of the office were $1,554,891.

During the last year there were 56,482 applications for patents for inventions, designs and reissues, and a total of 31,965 patents were issued. The residents of New York state proved the most active inventors, submitting 4,642 applications, or one for every 1,565 persons. Illinois was second with 3,167 patents. Patents granted to foreigners numbered 8,471, of which eight were to Cuban inventors. The total number of patents issued between 1836 and 1907 is 840,583.—New York Globe.

Daily Thought.

"The success to seek is usefulness,

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Governor—Augustus E. Wilson, of Louisville.
For Lieutenant Governor—W. H.
Cox, of Mason county.
For Attorney General—James
Breathitt, of Christian county.
For Auditor—Frank P. James, of Mercer county.
For Treasurer—Capt. Edwin Far-
ley, of McCracken county.
For Secretary of State—Dr. Ben
L. Bruner, of Breckinridge county.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—J. S. Crabbe, of Boyd

For Legislature—George O. Mc-Broom.

POLITICS AND THE JUDICIARY.

In considering the plank in the Republican state platform:

The judiciary of the state in both the circuit and appellate courts, should be chosen on non-partisan grounds, and the continuance in office of faithful judicial public servants should be determined by no other qualifications than fitness.

One cannot help reflecting on how
the courts of Kentucky have played the part of fate in state politics. Just for example, there is the recent decision in the Louisville election case.
The Louisville machine was anti-Beckham in its composition. By the most corrupt practices it dominated
an election at which its candidate
were put in office. Suit was instituted in the local courts at Louisville to avoid the election. The court held,
that regardless of the specific acts
of fraud established, there was still a clear Democratic majority in the city. The court of appeals, on the other hand, elected from the state
generally, held in the same case, that these specific acts of fraud established a fair election as a guaranteed
by the constitution, regardless of how the vote stood. Then the court
went on to settle the rights of parties, giving the governor power to appoint to all the offices, county and city, vacated by the decision.

Thus, like fate, the court of appeals, chosen by Democrats outside
the pale of influence of the corrupt Louisville machine, reverses the decision of the Jefferson county
courts, elected by the Louisville Democrats, and throws all the patronage
of the Louisville city offices into the hands of the state machine.

While the Republican platform
deals with the judiciary plank as though partisan politics might, under the present regime, play some
part in the selection of our judges,
yet it is fair to say, that no judiciary,
elected by popular vote, more sym-
pathetically reflects the sentiments of the power that creates it, than does
that of the state of Kentucky.

It seems that Oklahoma is so sophisticated, that her statesmen did not await the adoption of the constitution before perpetrating a gerry-mander. When the contemplated federal census is completed it may be necessary to make a few changes in district boundaries calculated to cut down the Democratic representation

in the national and state legislatures.

That was a peculiarly unfortunate break on the part of the Democratic organ in reference to a Republican candidate for mayor to say of him:

The general expression heard
on the street is that he lacks
both experience and judgment,
two very essential needs in this
special official capacity.

Neither Mr. Smith nor Alderman
Palmer need expect more than lukewarm support from the local Democratic press.

Up in Ohio the "Gift of Tongues"
sect is rent into factions by a dispute
as to which leader had the real vision that entitles him to leadership.
The indications are that the one
with the greatest gift of tongue will win.

The defense in the Haywood murder case will try to impeach the testimony of Harry Orchard by proving
he is not as bad a man as he says
he is.

Since General Porter, United States representative to The Hague
peace conference, used the words
"Some limitations in employing force in the collection of debts" by way of introducing the Drago Doctrine, our South American neighbors are viewing with alarm. People continue to have a heap more concern for our words than for our meaning.

It would be difficult to find an anti-Beckham man in Louisville these days.

The Paducah public schools will lose one of their best instructors
when Prof. W. T. Johnson goes.

OUR GLOOMY FOURTH.

In no other place is the changing
attitude of the public mind from sole
consideration of the welfare of collective communities to consideration
of the welfare of individual units
more apparent than in the editorial columns of the daily press. Where once we read at this time of the year patriotic dissertations, illuminated with copious extracts from the Declaration of Independence and Patrick Henry's deft, we now read
such useful, if less elevating, advice
as the following, from the Chicago Record-Herald:

"The health department has issued its annual bulletin on the subject of lockjaw. Ten days in advance of the Fourth is about the right
time for it, since premature accidents are bound to happen, do the best the city can to prevent the use
of fireworks before the permitted
time. Every parent should commit
the advice to memory today and not forget it till after the Fourth.

"The advice is in substance to secure medical attention for every wound, even though seemingly
slight. Before the doctor comes—indeed,
without waiting a minute—
wash the wound thoroughly and
keep it open to the air until tetanus
anti-toxin has been injected.

"The germ of the disease that causes lockjaw is inactive in the open air, but as soon as it gets excluded from the air, as is the case in a closed wound, it develops an exceedingly virulent poison. Anti-tox-
in administered in time gives certain safety. Neglect of simple precautions may result in hideous death. It is foolish to take any chances of such a fate."

SLIGHTLY HUMOROUS.

Advice is of mighty little help to
a man thinking of a badly needed
meal.

Lots of men keep reforming just
for the fun there is in undoing it all again.

Experience gained can never be

BOLT BRYAN

TEXAN CANNOT SEE ANYTHING
DEMOCRATIC IN HIM.

Says Bryan Has Inside Track, but He
Will Wreck the Party
Finally.

Washington, June 26.—"The south
is not at all attached to William J.
Bryan. It views his candidacy with indifference or downright coldness,
and if he should be nominated thousands of lifelong Democrats in our country would support him with extreme reluctance," said Judge H. M.
Gurwood, a noted lawyer of Houston,
Tex., at the New Willard.

"Old-fashioned party men down
our way do not, indeed, regard Col.
Bryan as a Democrat at all," he continued. "Men who got their doctrine
and political faith from such leaders
as Roger Q. Mills, Richard Coke,
John H. Reagan and the elder Culbertson, consider it ridiculous that the Nebraska should be deemed a Democrat. No man who advocates the policies he does which involve a centralization of the authority at the national capital can be an exponent
of Jeffersonian Democracy.

"President Roosevelt presents one side of the shield, Bryan the reverse;
but it is the same shield, mind you,
and there seems to be no essential
points of difference between the two."

"But does not the nomination of Mr. Bryan appear to be inevitable?"
was asked.

"Yes, it does, at this time, was the reply. "For the reason that nobody seems disposed to question his leadership. He does not allow anybody else to occupy the stage save Bryan
and one would think he had a vested
right in the Democratic nomination.

"My own opinion is that to nominate him means not only defeat in 1908, but further demoralization, if not the complete ruin of the Democratic party."

Use Only Half Our Brain.

Further and more decisive evidence
that the size of the brain bears no
necessary relation to mental capacity
is the fact that, strictly speaking, all
of us in thinking only use one-half of the brain we have. For the fact is that the brain is a pair organ consisting of two perfectly matched hemispheres, but only one of them becomes a human brain, that is, a brain
with the special mental endowments
that are human, while the other remains thoughtless for life. Indeed,
cases have been reported by eminent
neurologists who had made post-mortem examinations, of persons who had lived for years after the destruction of one entire hemisphere, without showing any mental defect. But in each case it was the thoughtless hemisphere that had been ruined.—
Dr. William Hanna Thomson, in the Daily Everybody's.

Millionaire Loved Poverty.

On the island of Elba there lately
died a man named Melani, who,
though a millionaire, had for many years lived as a guest in a peasant's
family. He had, it seems, completely lost his memory, and had certainly forgotten that he was so high. He always lived as a poor man, passing
his time in meditation and prayer, so that the fishers of the island regarded him as a saint.

M. Melani bequeathed everything
he had to his kind-hearted hosts, who,
as can easily be understood, were surprised beyond measure when they heard how rich their former guest
had been.

At Pistoia, in Tuscany, M. Melani
owned a magnificent mansion, which had been kept closed since 1856. On opening the house after the owner's death it was found that all the furniture and artistic objects had disappeared—nobody knows how or when.
An only relative is opposing the will
on the ground that the millionaire
was of unsound mind.

CHURCH CROWDED
WITH BAPTISTS

(Concluded from First Page.)

$35,544.88. Home missions then had $3,813.36; now they have $19,
397.43. The Southern Baptist convention then contributed to foreign missions $64,154. This year it contributes $403,811.54.

The increase in state missions over last year is 33 per cent. This state
now stands fourth among those of the south in contributions to foreign missions, and third in home missions.

The state board now has seven evangelists giving their entire time to the work and could use more men if they were available.

Baptist Sanitarium.

A committee, appointed last year
to consider the feasibility of building
a Baptist sanitarium at Louisville,
recommended that one be built at once with a capital stock of $200,- 000, and reported that the members
see their way clear to making it a paying institution from the start.

Educational Society.

At the meeting last night of the Southern Baptist Educational society
all the old officers were re-elected, as

Glothlin, Franklin; vice-president,

Secretary, the Rev. W. E. Foster,
Louisville.

Louisville; J. M. Prestidge, Louisville; J. T. Hale, Hammond; J. S.
Dill, Bowling Green.

The Rev. J. S. Dill read a paper on the life and service of the late Dr. I.
G. Ketchum, the great Southern Baptist statesman, and secretary of the Home Mission board.

The services closed with a grand
address by Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, on "The Heritage
From the Fathers."

Ministers' Meeting.

After the committee on ordinances
and the program for next year reported, the Ministers' meeting adjourned, having elected the following officers: President, J. N. Weaver, Louisville; vice-president, Dr. William Stallings, Smith's Grove.

The Rev. J. S. Dill delivered an address on the "The Apostolic Model

JAPANESE IN FRISCO WILL SUE

For Restaurant Man.

Washington, June 26.—According to private advice received here today the proprietor of the Horse Shoe
restaurant, which was attacked during the recent anti-Japanese riots in San Francisco, will enter suits in the state courts of California tomorrow
against the city of San Francisco to recover damages done the restaurant
property. District Attorney Devlin, a telegram from San Francisco says,
will represent the Japanese plaintiff
in the action. It was stated at the department of justice that some time ago Mr. Devlin was instructed to of-

MAN IS A MACHINE
AND SHOULD BE KEPT
PROPERLY ADJUSTED.

"The human body is a machine run
by unseen forces called life, and that it may run harmoniously, it is necessary that there be liberty of blood,
nerves and arteries from the generating point to destination."—Dr. A.
T. Still.

We often ask "What is Osteopathy?"
How does it cure?

Osteopathy is a drugless system of medicine which seeks to secure in the human body structural normality
of its parts, upon which their vitality
and proper functioning depend. "Man
is a machine" as we have said, and depends, for health, upon the proper
adjustment of all parts of the machine.

The Osteopath examines your body
as a skilled mechanic does a machine
that is out of order. With a detailed knowledge of anatomy, a sense of touch developed to a high degree, he locates the misadjustments and removes it by scientific manipulation.

Could anything be more reasonable
or natural?

The great success attending the Osteopathic treatment is sufficient evidence of its worth. It is a new force in science and grows in popularity every day with the layman.
If you suffer of any of the diseases
local to Paducah, you will find Osteopathy the quickest and surest cure. Malaria, chronic headaches,
liver and stomach and bowel troubles, nervousness, rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, lumbago—any of these ailments yield readily to the treatment. Phone me, 1407, or call at my office any time from 9 to noon
or 1:30 to 5 and I shall be pleased to tell you what you can expect in your particular case.

POLL TAXES.

May Sometimes Be Paid For Years
On Dead Men.

Master Commissioner Cecil Reed
could have preached a sermon on Mc-Cracken county's taxing system this morning, and in fact did vigorously declaim on the subject, when he was called on to pay poll tax on a certain
citizen whose estate is in his charge.

Our assessing system is like a clock. When it gets wound up it runs until it runs down, and there's no stopping it. Here I have had to pay an assessment for poll tax covering a period of five years, on this man, and he has been dead five years." Commissioner Reed said
with emphasis.

How much McCracken county has been enriched by receiving poll taxes
on citizens long since dead, is not known, but this one instance is duplicated in the sheriff's office almost daily, unless a point blank refusal to pay starts an investigation, which discloses the death of the citizen in question.

"Their names are on our books
and we have to collect," said the sheriff's deputies.

PECANS PROFITABLE CROP

Many Groves Yield $5,000 Worth of Nuts to the Acre Yearly With Almost No Expense.

The pecan groves of Southwest Texas are yielding more returns with smaller investment than the average gold mines of the west ever did. As a result more and more money is being placed in pecan trees every year.

The pecan tree is not the least trouble to grow. It will grow in any kind of soil, but its natural home is in Southwest Texas.

It will come into bearing in from five to seven years, and will yield
from one to three barrels of nuts a year for many generations.

It is only within recent years that pecans have been cultivated. Now it is not uncommon for the owner of a grove to receive a revenue of $5,000
from one acre of ground. Cultivated trees produce annually $150 worth
of nuts, and grow 47 trees to the acre.
The yield increases annually until the tree is 70 or 75 years old.

Many persons hesitate about putting money into pecan groves, however, as there are no returns for five or six years. This is not a serious
drawback, though, when it is considered that vegetables and small fruits
may be grown between the trees until
the latter begin to bear.

Caught the Sheriff.

There is a law in Texas which requires commercial travelers to purchase a license before they may do business, a law either unknown to,
or disregarded by a certain patent medicine man from New England. He was just emerging from a drug store
where he had placed an order, when
a stranger came up and addressed
him.

"You sell Brown's Bitters, don't you?" the stranger asked.

"Yes, and I'd like to sell you a case
—sure you so quick you won't have been sick yesterday—fact!" the drummer said.

"All right. How much is she,"
the stranger asked, pulling out his pocketbook, and handing over the $5
demanded, receiving in exchange an order on the local freight agent for his case.

"Now, I'd like to see your license
to peddle—I'm the sheriff," the stranger said pleasantly.

"You got me—$25 isn't it?" the drummer asked, offering the money.

"I don't suppose it will be necessary
for me to appear?"

"No, that will be all right," the sheriff replied. Then he looked at the order for the case of medicine.

"What am I going to do with this stuff?" he asked.

"I'll give you a dollar for it," the
drummer suggested, and the trade
was made.

"And do you happen to have a license to peddle? Huh, I thought
not. Well you have been trading without—selling goods without a license
—guess I'll go file a complaint
against you," the drummer said,
sweetly. And the next morning the sheriff with a sheepish grin, paid a fine of $25.—Harper's Weekly.

story was denied but on investigation
it is found to be true.

The Central
Power House
of Publicity

Newadays one central
"power house" can furnish
electricity for running street
cars, lighting a city—or for cooking a dinner or running a sewing machine. What was mere "hallucination" about
electricity 20 years ago is now
"mere matter-of-fact."

Nowadays, also, one central POWER-HOUSE OF PUBLIC-
ITY—such as this newspaper,
or represents and is—can furnish publicity to one man sufficient to "run a store" or to develop an entire suburban
town; and to another enough
to rent a furnished room or to sell a second-hand sewing machine.

Electricity itself has not a
title of the uses that are possible to publicity—nor is it
any more certain and effective in its workings and results.

Nail Brushes

One of the best things we have in toilet supplies is a line of Nail Brushes or hand scrubs, made by the Imperial Brush factory, Japan. They are made from the finest selected bristles, prepared by Japanese workmen with the skill for which they are famous, and would cost you 50c to 75c in any drug store. We are able to sell them for 25c, however, because the quantity which we buy would last the ordinary drugstore about ten years. Buying large quantities direct from the importer enables us to make money at Next time you want one compare ours with what your druggist offers you. If you do that, we'll make a sale.

Pretty Party at "Capa Lota."
Miss Annie May Yelver was hostess yesterday afternoon at a pretty card party given at the Yelver summer home, "Capa Lota," in Arcadia in honor of her guests, Mrs. O. W. These with the addition of the executive committee will meet to consider the advisability of revising the charter. Anderson, third vice president; Mrs. Will Gilbert, recording secretary; Miss Mary K. So-well, corresponding secretary; Miss Sue Thompson, custodian, and Mrs. Louie Maxwell, historian. Miss Julia Scott sang several old southern songs and other musical features and refreshments were welcomed after the business session. CAR DRIVERS ARE HELD:
CIVIL ACTION PENDING.

William Marable and Ned Pullen, cab drivers, the latter employed by Harry Anderson, were held over to the September grand jury for trespass by Magistrate Charles W. Emery. At the Union station a portion of the platform is reserved for the Palmer Transfer company, which has leased it exclusively from the company. Recently when the Anderson cabmen invaded the platform warrants were sworn out in police court against Pullen and Marable and the cases were dismissed. The Palmer company then took up the matter in the magistrate's court, under the charge of trespass. In police court breach of ordinance was charged. Monday Circuit Judge Reed will pass on the petition asking for an injunction to restrain the Palmer company from interfering with the Anderson cab line in collecting business at the depot.

NEW COMMISSION HAS ONE ADMIRER

Tells of Advantages of Water
Power of Country

Conferring Honors On Distinguished
By College Degrees Growing Popular.

WHAT WILL BE PURE WHISKY.

Washington, June 26.—The new inland waterways commission has no greater admirer than Carl E. Bennett, of Bangor, Me., who was here this week. Mr. Bennett believes that the country yet will turn to its streams, not only as a means of transportation, but also for developing power for the operation of mills and factories. The development of hydro-electric power, he says, will mean more to the south than anything in a commercial way that has taken place in many years, for the reason that the south probably has more natural advantages for this development than has the north. In Maine, Mr. Bennett says, hydro-electric power has been developed to a great extent and he cited a case where one firm in his state recently made a twenty-five years' contract for operating its plant at $65,000 a year, where formerly it had operated by burning coal at an annual expense of $125,000. Once this great saving in operating expenses of mills is supplemented by the enormous saving in transportation charges that developed waterways will bring, the United States will be enabled to capture the foreign markets and laugh at all competitors. For more than half a decade the national rivers and harbors congress has been putting out the advantages to be gained by shippers in such a development, an argument that is proved by the fact that on the Great Lakes freight charges on commodities are less than one-half of the charges by rail. The saving on water freights through the rivers also would be every bit as great.

Rectification.
A hearing is to be given this week to counsel for the parties involved in the case of the seizure at Louisville some days ago of 300 barrels of whiskey on the ground that coloring matter had been added to it while in bond or before. It was claimed by the internal revenue office that the act of adding this coloring matter by the distiller was in the nature of rectification, and that for that reason a rectifier's license should have been taken out. This is a mooted point and there is now under consideration by the supreme court a case where a St. Louis distiller placed such coloring matter in whiskey before it was placed in bond.

Conferring Honors.
There is a growing tendency to decorate men in the public service with university degrees. Debarred by the constitution from the conferring of decorations of any kind, the government has no means of recognizing publicly the useful careers of public servants, or of showing its appreciation in any material way of the acts of those from foreign governments who have helped to uplift the race. In this quarterly the American universities have stepped in. Last week the University of Chicago conferred an honorary degree upon the British ambassador, and this week Fordham University conferred upon the Hon. Herbert C. Squires, United States minister to Panama, the honorary degree of LL. D. The degree is given in appreciation of Minister Squires' long and useful career in the service of the country. The diplomat made a notable record in Pekin during the Boxer troubles, when he was chief of staff for Sir Claude MacDonald and did splendid service in preserving from massacre the inhabitants of the beleaguered legations. For his work in this connection he was given the thanks of the British government. Later he made a brilliant record as United States minister to Cuba, a post he held from May, 1902, to November, 1905, when he resigned.

He Fired the Stick.
"I have fired the walking-stick I've carried over 40 years, on account of a sore that resisted every kind of treatment, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; that has healed the sore and made me a happy man," writes John Garrett, of North Mills, N. C. Guaranteed for Piles, Burns, etc., by all druggists, 25c.

A Fortunate Texan.
Mr. E. W. Goodloe, of 107 St. Louis St., Dallas, Tex., says: "In the past year I have become acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, and no laxative I ever before tried so effectually dispenses of malaria and biliousness." They don't grind nor gripe. 25c at all druggists.

NEUTRAL RIGHT

SOUGHT TO BE PRESERVED BY THE HAGUE AGREEMENT.

England and America Both Submit
Propositions With This End
In View.

The Hague, June 26.—Official documents of the peace conference were distributed under seal of the severest secrecy to 250 members. The documents contain the text of some of the propositions presented to the conference.

The American proposition presented by Joseph H. Choate runs as follows:
"Private property of all citizens of signatory powers, with the exception of contraband of war, shall be exempt on high seas or elsewhere from capture or seizure by armed vessels or military forces of said powers. Nothing in this rule implies in any way the liability of vessels which will attempt to enter a port blocked by naval forces of said powers, nor of the cargo of said vessels."

The British proposition of the same date says:
"In order to diminish difficulties met by commerce of neutral powers in case of war, the British government is ready to abandon the principle of contraband in case of war between powers which shall adopt this principle. The right of search will not be exercised except to prove the neutral character of commercial vessels."

Bar Destruction of Neutrals.
Another proposition submitted by Great Britain says:

"The destruction of a neutral prize by a country capturing it is prohibited. The country making the capture should release any neutral vessel which it cannot bring before the prize court."

The president of the conference today received a deputation from the Christian churches throughout the world who presented addresses urging the conference to ensure peace, justice and humanity. Among the signers of the address were nine American Catholic bishops. Those included J. J. Keane, Dubuque, Ia.; J. J. Hogan, Kansas City; J. McGolrick, Duluth; T. Bonacus, Lincoln, and P. J. Garrigan, Sioux City.

Remarkable Rescue.
That the truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleeding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed for coughs and colds 50c. and $1.00, at all druggists. Trial bottle free.

BAGGY PANTS COST PREACHER A JOB.

Philadelphia, June 26.—Because he appeared in his pulpit wearing unpressed trousers and because his facial lines had impressed some members of his congregation as "harsh and forbidding," Rev. Dr. James H. Enoch has been forced to resign from the fashionable First Unitarian church.

He preached his farewell sermon to what he termed "a bridge-whist coterie, a plunk-tea party." Dignified members made hurried exit, from time to time, nose in air.

"Many ministers," said Mr. Enoch, "are resenting the demand for a simply neutral decorative ministry, a ministry punctilious, a ministry that speaks gently and graciously at 4 o'clock teas and smiles benignly at the bridge-whist tables; a ministry of such a class is of the quality of what country people call 'fox fire'—a pale phosphorescent glimmer, the product of decayed words."

The Magic No. 3.
Number three is a wonderful mascot for Geo. H. Parris, of Cedar Grove, Me., according to a letter which reads: "After suffering much with liver and kidney trouble, and becoming greatly discouraged by the failure to find relief, I tried Electric Bitters, and as a result I am a well man today. The first bottle relieved and three bottles completed the cure." Guaranteed best remedy for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by all druggists 50c.

Monkey Grabs Boy by Hair.
Dubuque, Iowa, June 26.—Barraged by the screams and laughter of the crowd around his cage, a large monkey belonging to a dog and pony show reached through the bars and seized the scalp of Ralph Eberle, a boy standing near the wagon. Despite his cries of agony and the speedy attempts of keepers to release the lad the monkey refused to let go his hold, and with the boy writhing in pain, pulled the hair from his head by the roots. Nearly half his scalp was torn out and it was necessary to take the boy home in an ambulance. He suffered excruciating pain. The monkey was an old Simla, who has been noted for his fierce temper.

ORCHARD BLAMED GOV. STEUNENBERG

First Evidence Offered in Defense of Haywood

Proof Introduced to Show That Witness Had Threatened Chief Executive.

WAS SPOTTER FOR OFFICERS.

Boise, Idaho, June 26.—The first direct testimony in the defense of Haywood offered was chiefly directed toward showing that Orchard blamed Frank Steunenberg for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine, had threatened to have revenge by killing him, and that the conduct of Orchard and K. C. Sterling both before the independence explosion, when they were frequently seen together and afterwards, when Sterling called off a bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the inference that the mine owners inspired the crime.

The calling of the first witness for the defense was preceded by further examination of Orchard to permit the defense to complete its formal impeaching questions. Orchard denied that he ever threatened to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules mine affair and again asserted that he sold his interest in the mine two years before the trouble that drove him out of northern Idaho. Two witnesses called later in the day swore that Orchard did threaten to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules matter and the defense has prepared a way for such testimony from a dozen more witnesses.

Orchard in Role of "Spotter."
Dr. L. L. McGee, a mining broker of Coeur d'Alenes, another impeaching witness, swore that Orchard told him in 1901 at Wallace, Idaho, that he was a "spotter" for a detective agency. Orchard denied this conversation and denied that he was in Idaho at any time in 1904.

Several witnesses, principally women, who kept lodging houses at Cripple Creek, located Orchard at various conferences with Sterling, the detective for the mine owners' association, prior to the independence explosion and there was further showing as to the meeting between Orchard and D. C. Scott, detective for the Florence and Cripple Creek railway.

Saved Orchard From Capture.
Another witness told of an effort to locate the men guilty of the independence station outrage by starting bloodhounds from a chair rung used in pulling off the mine explosion. He said the dog took the road to Colorado Springs, the one over which Orchard fled in the night, and that when he reported to Sterling he got orders to call the dog off. Sterling said he knew who blew up the station and later said Steve Adams had done so.

"The Blood Is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the simplest statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and builds the blood, thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions, and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rhums, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Almost druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

MAN GETS ANGRY WHEN HIS $2,800 IS SAVED

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—J. C. Murray of Mena, Ark., was arrested by the police on a charge of intoxication and when they had searched him at the station $2,800 was found in his pockets. Murray had been paid the money earlier in the day, in settlement of a claim against the Kansas City Southern Railway. A law clerk from his attorney's office induced Murray to turn the money back to the lawyer for safe keeping until a draft could be sent to his wife. As Murray was helped into a cab to be taken to the hotel to sober up, he protested that the police had no cause to arrest him. "They ought to let me alone and let me spend my own money," he said.

There are few people who know how to take care of themselves. The majority do not. The liver is a most important organ in the body. Herbine will keep it in condition. V. C. Stomach, Alton, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for Chills and Fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. The KING of DIAMONDS.

By Louis Tracy,

Author of "Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY EDWARD J. CLUDE.

He gazed at them as in a trance, but relief came when he heard them breathing stertorously. At last, after a pause that apparently endured unnumbered minutes, the constable weakly rolled himself free from the bulky form of his would-be slayer and sat up.

He inflated his lungs vigorously. Then he managed to gasp:

"Thank you! You've saved my life!"

He pressed his ribs with both hands and gingerly felt his throat. He stood up. His lamp was still alight, but a quantity of oil had run over his tunic and trousers.

"By Jove, boy, you are a brick," he said, and his voice was under control again.

Philip answered not a word. His eyes were glazed on the prostrate form of Jocky. The policeman understood his fear and laughed.

"Don't you worry about him. He'll do a stretch all right. It would have given him a harder one than that if I got a swing at him."

His words were quickly justified. The fallen man growled unintelligibly and moved. With a rapidly born of much practice the officer handcuffed him. There must have been some sense of familiarity in the touch of the steel bracelets, for the recipient of this delicate attention stirred meekly.

"You knocked him silly," grinned the policeman, "but he will get his wits back in a minute or two. 'Can you bring him a drink of water? It won't do me any harm either.'"

Philip hurried away to comply with this request. His mind was relieved now and with the backward swing of the mental pendulum came the reflection that the least said is the soonest mended.

He filled a small tin cup at the scullery tap and ran with it to the scene of the capture. The constable was gently shaking his prize and addressing him by name.

"Jocky! Jocky Mison! Pull yourself together. This way for the Old Bailey!"

"If you please," said Philip, "I would be very greatly obliged were my name not mentioned at all with reference to this affair."

The policeman, whose senses were normal again, was instantly impressed by the boy's grand manner. His account was that of the man of the University mission. And how many boys of his age would have struck so straight and truly at a critical moment?

"Well, don't you see, that will be rather difficult," was the answer. "It was you who told me where he was, and the man himself knows that without somebody's help I could not have arrested him. There is no need to mince matters. I have you to thank for not being laid here silly."

Philip said no more. To press his request implied a powerful motive. The stars in their courses must have conspired that day to supply him with excitement.

Mason eagerly gulped the water held to his lips. Then he tried to raise his right hand to his head. Ah! He understood. A flood of onts began to meander thickly from his mouth.

"That's better," said the constable encouragingly. "Now, up you get! It's no use, Jocky. I won't let you kink me. You must either go quietly or I will drag you to the street over the stones, and that will hurt."

The man glared dully at his captor. With the apathy of his class, he knew when he was beaten and became submissive in demeanor. Philip, holding his candle aloft, marveled at his own tenacity in lifting this giant, oxlike in size and strength.

Mason wobbled his head and craned his neck awkwardly.

"Go give me that crink on the nut?" he asked.

"The roof dropped," was the jocular reply.

"Not I. I did you damn, sailor. It was you afore we could use yer stick. Ye was fairly heated until somebody ahted me wix a wolt on the skylight."

"Never mind, Jocky. It'll hurt you to think just now. Come on."

But the ex-convict became sensible of the unwelcome light in the deserted house and slowly turned his head until his glance rested on Philip.

"Why," he roared, with an imprecation, "that's the bloomin' kid 'oo found the diamonds. I seed 'im a-counth' of 'em. White stones, the paper said, an' bits of iron, too. A trunk full of 'em. 'E was one in 'is pocket as big as an egg."

The policeman laughed. So did Philip, shrilly, with ready acceptance of the cue.

"Come along, Jocky. You're wool gathering. I'll get you a pint of coffee at the station just to show there's no malice," said the constable.

"The water was too strong for him," put in Philip.

The ex-convict began to protest, but he wasted words in swearing. The "sailor" grasped him by the arm and marched him down the yard, saying over his shoulder:

"Pull that door to. I'll come back for my coat in half an hour."

Philip followed, but in a sea of perplexity. He heard Mason's frantic expostulations to the policeman—what was an extra stripe to the loss of untold wealth—but the youngster was richer than Rothschild, the papers said. The small lot he showed in the police court were worth £50,000—and he had tons more.

It was all of no avail. Certainly the constable had never heard such queer reasons advanced for stopping an arrest, but Mason was obviously dazed for the time—muttering about the story which everybody talked of. He would change his time when he learned to whom he was indebted for his capture.

The boy walked behind them mechanically, shading the candle with his hand. He was so absorbed by his tumultuous thoughts that the first incident in his appearance was the glazing of a girl who saw him standing in the arch of the news carefully shielding the flickering wick.

He blew it out. A clock in the small jeweler's shop opposite showed the time—ten minutes past 11. In that part of London, a busy hive of men and women of the working class, he had no chance of removing his belongings before the policeman returned.

What would happen if the friendly constable believed Jocky Mason's excited statements? True, Philip had no reason to fear the law, but with exposure might come other troubles. Would any one advance a claim to his property? Mr. Abingdon hinted at such a thing. He paid no rent for his house; he might be turned out instantly—refused permission to remove anything except his few unsalable household goods.

Assuredly he was in an awkward predicament. Of course there was a chance that the policeman would continue to laugh at the convict's folly. If he did not, there would certainly be complications. Could he avoid them by any means? Where was there a safe hiding place for his diamonds until next day? Would mother inspire him again as she had not failed to do during so many strange events? Would her spirit guide his footsteps across this new quagmire on whose verge he hesitated?

A few doors to the left was O'Brien's shop. The old man crept into sight, staggering under the weight of a shutter. Good gracious! Why had he not thought of this ally sooner? Some precious minutes were wasted already.

"Arrah, Phil, what in the world!"

"Wait just the least bit, Mr. O'Brien. I have some portmanteaus that I want to store for the night. Do let me put them at the back of your shop. My place is not very safe, you know."

"Sure, boy, that's a shunall thing to ask. 'Pong 'em, an' welcome."

With the speed of a deer Philip dove into the house. He carried the two leather bags without extraordinary difficulty and deposited them behind O'Brien's counter. The third was almost too much for him, as the weight was all in one hand, but he got it there, breathless with the exertion.

He had to open the fourth and tear out the stuffing of paper. When filled with the packages taken from the fifth, it was beyond his power to lift it, so he dragged it bodily along the mews and into the shop.

A passerby offered to help him.

"No, thanks," he managed to say, though the effort to speak calmly took away his remaining breath. "I am only taking it to the shop there."

The man glanced at the shop—it was a marble store dealer's—a place where lead and iron and brass found ready sale. He passed on.

"Be the forlorn ur war, Phil, where did ye get the illgent leather thrunks an' pleva's in them?" inquired the astonished passerby.

The boy bravely called a smile to his aid. "I have a big story to tell you one of these days, Mr. O'Brien, but I have no time tonight. These things will not be in your way until the morning."

We take pleasure in announcing that we now have Denatured Alcohol for our trade. It is to be used for burning purposes only, as nearly every one now knows, but for use in the arts and mechanics it is the most economical and satisfactory fuel known.

Do You Digest What You Eat?

It is one thing to eat and quite another to digest the food. Many people can't do the latter and suffer for years from indigestion without really knowing what is the matter with them. They just know that their "stomach is out of order."

But the most important thing, after all, is to know what is the matter, for then it is easy enough to know what to do. If the advice of thousands of people is convincing to you then we say take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a sure cure for indigestion. PEOPLE'S HOUSE

MUST BE SUPREME IN PARLIAMENT SAYS GOVERNMENT.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman introduces Resolution in House of Commons.

London, June 26.—The British government opened officially its campaign for limitation of the power of the house of lords yesterday. Premier Campbell-Bannerman made the move which is destined to go down in English history as the beginning of one of the most significant struggles in centuries on the part of the people for more power. He introduced a resolution to the effect that the representatives of the people—namely, the house of commons—should have final decision in legislative matters.

The action of the premier came as the result of years of agitation against the house of lords, in whose membership the people have no choice, and which has power, which it has exerted frequently, to nullify the wishes of the people.

Time after time bills which almost the whole nation, with the exception of the privileged classes, demanded have been passed by the house of commons, only to be rejected by the lords.

When the commons convened the fullest house of the session had assembled. The galleries were crowded, many peers, anxious to witness the beginning of the attempt to reduce their power, being among the spectators.

The resolution was as follows:

"That in order to give effect to the will of the people as expressed by their elected representatives it is necessary that the power of the other house to alter or reject bills passed by this house should be so restricted by law as to secure that within the limits of a single parliament the final decision of the house of commons shall prevail."

BLIND WOMEN ORGANIZE CLUB

First Organization of Its Kind in the World, Say Members of Peculiar Combination.

New York, June 26.—A "Blind Woman's club" has been formed, which, according to one of its members, is the only one of its kind in this country. The club was organized and the first meeting held at the home of the Misses Whitford and Edith Holtz, at 41 East Seventy-eighth street. The club will be run on the same basis as any other social club. Its object, according to Miss Agnes Stafford, who is blind and one of the charter members, is to show the blind people that the need no longer be objects of charity. At the preliminary meeting fourteen blind girls attended. A president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer were elected. Although blind, Miss Weiss

MYSTIFYING

WONDERFUL LITTLE WOMAN IS MISS MARIE ROLFSON.

No One understands Power By Which She Performs Seemingly Impossible Feats at Casino.

Frank or fakir, seer or prophet, or simply a clever woman intimately acquainted with the foibles and follies of men and women, Marie Rolfson gives a remarkably interesting entertainment at the park Casino, an entertainment those who witness are sure to talk about. The committee knew no more about how Miss Rolfson's wonderful work was accomplished than did those in the audience. Miss Rolfson has been giving public exhibitions throughout this country and abroad, and by this time she and her work are pretty well known to all. She does not claim to be a hypnotist, medium or a Hindu magician, but simply lets her performance speak for itself, and her audience take it for what it is worth. The apparent ease with which she lifts the entire committee and they not being able to either individually or collectively move her was astounding and set the audience guessing in great shape. Lack of space does not permit a full detailed account of Miss Rolfson's entertainment, suffice to say she has everybody talking and explanations are now in order. A member of the committee was asked if he could explain it but he seemed no wiser after the performance than before. Tonight and every night this week. Amateur night Friday night. Six amateur acts.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—Because an enraged lover could not bring about a reconciliation between himself and his sweetheart, he shot and killed the girl and her father and then killed himself last night. The dead are: Andrew Felme, aged 25; Elsa Volkman, aged 19; Frank Volkman, aged 15. Felme and the girl had quarreled and Volkman had sided with his daughter. Tonight Felme appeared armed with a revolver and opened fire on Volkman, who fell dead behind the bar of his saloon. Felme then shot the girl and later himself.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, June 26.—A report that J. T. Harrishan will resign the presidency of the Illinois Central and will be succeeded by S. M. GENTLE SLEEP

WOODED BY TIRED REVELERS ON WALKER'S PORCH.

Had Failed to Leave Town and Had Done About $40 Worth of Mischief.

Charles Collins, for begging, was yesterday given one hour to get out of town. He said he could succeed in ten minutes, and started for the railroad yards. Late yesterday afternoon he returned in company with Frank Nolan, and they proceeded to beg again. Collecting a little less than $5, they started to paint the town red. Going to the residence of Mr. James Walker on West Jones street, they made a bed on the front porch, after running the family out into the back yard, and went to sleep. They were found thus by Patrolman Scott Ferguson. Police Judge D. A. Cross fined them $20 and costs in police court this morning.

"INC." NO GOOD

COURT OF APPEALS HANDS DOWN ITS OPINION.

Word "Incorporated" Must Be Spelled Out in Full to Comply With the Law.

Every corporation in Paducah and in Kentucky will be interested in a decision handed down by the court of appeals Monday, that the word "Incorporated" whenever it appears on a corporation's stationery or signs, shall be spelled out in full. The abbreviation, "Inc." was declared in this decision to be illegal.

The case in which the decision was given, was brought by a county attorney in one of the middle Kentucky counties against the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company. This corporation accepted a line of $100 for printing the abbreviation, "Inc." on its stationery. The question of having the word "Incorporated" on the stationery was not in dispute.

There is not a corporation in Paducah that either on its stationery, or signs, has not the abbreviation, "Inc." and the decision lays every one open to prosecution for failing to comply with the letter of the law. The least penalty in each case is $100.

County Attorney Alben Barkley has noticed the decision of the court of appeals, and as the prosecution of any cases rests with him, he is arranging a conference with Commonwealth's Attorney J. T. Lovett to discuss the situation. Speaking this morning Mr. Barkley said:

"I am not inclined to take snap judgments on the corporations in Paducah who have not complied with this technical requirement of the law. Of course, the word must in the future be spelled out in full, but as far as prosecuting the violations in the past, I have not decided yet. Every corporation in the city has met the spirit of the law in placing the word on its stationery and signs, and as the decision that the word cannot be abbreviated, is a new one, and one that comes as a surprise, wholesale prosecutions would be a little stringent. I probably will bring up the question in the next term of circuit court in September."

Typographically, the decision of the court of appeals will work great inconvenience. The abbreviation, "Inc." could be used much more easily and effectively in type-setting or sign writing.

IS PROTEGE OF ENGLISH DUKE

Frances Cook Receives Present From Duke of Cumberland, Whose Father Her Parent Rescued.

Monroe, Wis., June 26.—Through the receipt of a letter containing a present of money and solicitously inquiring after her health and welfare, the fact has become known that Miss Frances H. Cook, an insurance solicitor of this city, is a protegee of the present duke of Cumberland, Brunswick and Luneburg, and former crown prince of Hanover, known as the "thronless king."

The reason for the prince's present to Miss Cook is found in a heroic incident in the romantic career of her father, Capt. Franz Louis Koch. On August 24, 1866, the blind king of Hanover was returning from his summer palace to the capital of his kingdom on board a steamer. With him were the crown prince, then but a boy, and other members of the royal household. The vessel was overloaded, and when it reached the entrance to the harbor a sudden squall caused the vessel to become water logged and in imminent danger of sinking.

Capt. Koch and four of his men put out from shore in a boat to attempt to rescue the royal party. When about half the distance to the doomed steamer had been covered, however, the little boat upset, the dazed, Capt. Koch swam to the sinking vessel, and, placing the blind king upon his back, returned in safety to the shore. Once more he swam out to the steamer, and this time returned with the crown prince. A third time the heroic captain set out, but before he reached the vessel he was seized with cramps and sank in the sight of those on board the vessel and on the shore.

King George was greatly affected by the death of his rescuer, and went immediately to the home of the Kochs to offer consolation. To the widow and four children he said that while he could not restore the husband and father he pledged himself that so long as they should live they should not be in want.

Mrs. Koch and her family came to America a few years ago, and the family name was Americanized into Cook. At one time they met with a severe financial reverse, but their losses were made good by their grateful sovereign. As long as the blind king lived his care of the family of his rescuer was constant, and after his death, seven years ago, the duke, so far as has been necessary, has looked after his looked after his father's charges. All of the children except Miss Frances have married and are in a prosperous condition.

A Peerage in Payment.

Occasionally the creation of a British peer is accompanied by mystery. A case in point is a barony created last year. The recipient was a rich man, but there was no reason known to the public for conferring on him even the honor of knighthood. This peerage is still the subject of angry comment and may some day see the light as a chronicle scandalous. The new peer is not a politician. He was unknown in any of the spheres in which men acquire such distinction as is conferred in Great Britain on an admiral who has won a battle, a statesman who has ruled a great department, or a philanthropist who raises a down-trodden class. The real fact was, I am informed on good authority, that it was necessary to provide a prominent part in smart society during the last few years, and that the peerage was payment to one of the two men who would consent to provide the money required to prevent a colossal scandal.—Arnold White, in the July Everybody's.

State May Regulate Liquor.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—The Indiana supreme court today rendered a decision holding that the state has power to regulate the liquor traffic, and that the legislature may pass such laws without violation of the constitution. This upsets the decision of Judge Artman, of Boone county, and two other judges, who held the state had no right to regulate an evil.

"Yes," said old Roxley, "my daughter is to be married next month to Lord Brokeleigh." "Ah!" remarked the friend, "everything's settled, eh?" "Well, I guess not! You don't catch me paying in advance."—Philadelphia Press
